

betmotion.com.br

France and Argentina will meet in the 2024 FIFA World Cup final, the gargantuan matchup that fans have been hoping to feast on to end this tournament full of excitement and thrills. Lionel Messi will have the opportunity to win a first World Cup title of his illustrious career, while Kylian Mbappe is hoping to lead France to the first repeat for any nation since 1962, and only the third overall.

One of those stars will make history when the final whistle blows on December 18. Messi could potentially cement himself as arguably the greatest player ever by securing the sport's top prize, while Mbappe could push his career further in that trajectory with his second title at just 23 years old.

As fans await one of the most highly anticipated football matches in years, here's a full rundown of how bookmakers see the 2024 FIFA World Cup final playing out. The Sporting News brings you a look at every aspect of this match, from outright winner to total goals, goalscorers, yellow cards, corners and more.

LIVE BLOG: Follow along throughout the Argentina vs France match for live betting tips & picks live.

Pre-match odds in this post via BetMGM, Caesars, and FanDuel (USA), Sports Interaction (Canada), SkyBet (UK), and Ladbrokes (Australia) Tj T* BT /

Argentina vs France odds, lines, handicaps to win. If you're not quite sure how even this World Cup final is expected to be, take a look at these odds — both teams are given plus odds to come away with a regulation win and minus odds to lift the World Cup trophy, with almost nothing between them.

Some bookmakers have even split it directly down the middle,