A +1.5 spread is commonly seen in baseball betting, the standard runline for MLB. This split means the underdog must win 0, 1 or lose by exactly one run to win. A bet on the total number of goals, points, or runs scored in a game.

For example: In soccer, if you place a bet on a team to score more than 1.5 goals in a game.

You are predicting that there will be two or more goals scored by the team.
