According to Activision's post on X (formerly Twitter), the huge file size is due to the increased amount of content available in Day 1, which includes map files for Call of Warzone, support for Modern Warfare II items, and the new open-world Zombies mode. As a result, the game can now take up over 200GB of space, a significant increase from the previous version.

This is a case for Call of Warzone, a popular first-person shooter game. The game is known for its large file size, which is a common issue for many PC games. The game's file size is a result of the increased amount of content available in the game, including the new open-world Zombies mode.
